GEORGE BALDESSIN PARADOX & PERSUASION

Printmaker and sculptor George Baldessin was born in North Italy, before moving to Australia with his family in 1949. He studied at RMIT from 1958 to 1961 and later at the Chelsea School of Art in London in 1962. He continued further study at the Brera Academy of Fine Art Milan from 1962 – 63.

Baldessin held his first solo exhibition at the Argus Gallery on the fourth floor of the old Argus newspaper building in Elizabeth Street in 1964 and completed the now iconic pears sculpture installation outside the National Gallery of Australia before his death in 1978.

A studio and print workshop was founded at Baldessin's studio in St Andrews, Victoria and in 1998 a Baldessin Foundation Travelling Scholarship was established for travelling sculptors.

Baldessin's work is held in the collection of the National Gallery of Australia, Canberra; all state galleries and regional galleries including Ballarat, Geelong, Mildura, Mornington, Sale, Warrnambool, Newcastle, Fremantle, Launceston and University collections including Melbourne University, Monash, Hobart and internationally at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

NEW TATTOO ARTISTS

ILLUSTRATORS AND DESIGNERS MEET TATTOO

Artists from disciplines commonly seen as far removed from tattooing embrace it with a different look and approach.

Artists from graphic design, photography, illustration, painting and sculpture have found in tattooing a new tool to express themselves and give way to their distinctive language. And they do it with a fresh look and extraordinary results, often far removed from the traditional tattoo. New Tattoo Artists presents the work of 25 tattoo artists from around the world, taking us on an exhilarating journey through this "new art of tattooing". Their work is nurtured by many sources, resulting in a rich, diverse and especially unique book that offers a revitalised vision of an ancient art along with the artists' own reflections and personal experiences.

- ♥ Illustrators, designers and photographers are the new tattoo artists
- ♥ A look into cross disciplinary tendencies in modern art

"We began making street art and creating installations at the same time as Kev began tattooing. Then our styles began to merge organically and Expanded Eye was born. We've been working together for over a decade. It's a beautiful journey of exploration and discovery that has allowed us to find our voice and a unique form of expression."

NEVER SHAKEN, NEVER STIRRED

THE STORY OF ANN FLEMING AND LAURA, DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH

Glamorous, fun and packed with scandalous anecdotes, Never Shaken, Never Stirred tells the story of two extraordinary sisters, Ann and Laura Charteris, who made marrying well an art form.

While Laura eventually became the Duchess of Marlborough, Ann became Mrs Ian Fleming, and the antics and attitudes of the two women inspired the writer to create the famous 'Bond Girl'. Along the way there were marriages, and affairs, with some of the biggest names of the twentieth century. Counting seven marriages between them, the sisters' collective husbands included a duke, four peers, Jackie Kennedy's brother-in-law and the alleged illegitimate son of the Queen's uncle. There were also passionate affairs with two Labour leaders, two press barons and a cluster of film stars.

Indeed, the lives of the Charteris sisters are almost too extraordinary to believe, as they bagged husbands, bedded men, threw parties and travelled to some of the most glamorous destinations in the world, all at a time when such behaviour by aristocratic society women was unthinkable.

THE SWING

Britta Teckentrup's latest book for children of every age is a poetic masterpiece about the passage of time.

A swing on a hill overlooking the water is at the centre of this lovely meditation on childhood, growing older, friendship and loss.

But as seasons change and years pass, things do change. Friends come and go, lovers meet and kiss, spring turns to autumn, and the swing set grows creaky with age.

All of these changes are gorgeously communicated by Teckentrup's signature collage paintings that employ soft, radiant colours and simple yet powerful compositions.

And as the narrator grows older and wiser, readers themselves will understand that life's most important memories can never disappear.

HANNIBAL OF CARTHAGE

The life of Hannibal, one of the greatest military leaders in history who brought a hundred thousand soldiers and their elephants across the Alps to defeat the Romans.

With a new introduction, comes the story of Hannibal, often regarded as a successor to the mantle of Alexander the Great, at a time when the North African Carthage and Italian Rome were rivals for land and power across the Mediterranean sea.

A masterful tactician, a resourceful planner and courageous general, Hannibal famously crossed the Alps with a vast army of 100,000 soldiers and their elephants to make his mark on history, winning a series of battles across the Roman territories, holding much of Italy for over 15 years without quite overwhelming the First Republic.

Part of a series on The World's Greatest Myths and Legends, capturing the mystery and drama of ancient legends through all the key stories and folk tales featuring gods, heroes, monsters and animals, as well as common themes such as creation, love, death and courage.

TEN POEMS ABOUT TEA

Ten Poems about Tea has a fabulous introduction by Sophie Dahl (PG with milk, no sugar) and was the brilliant idea of Picador poet Lorraine Mariner, who also works as a librarian in the Poetry Library at London's South Bank Centre.

Tea (like Dundee Cake) will not be going out of fashion any time soon and the ten poems about it will, we hope, give your tea-time new heights of delight. Perfect for those of us for whom, to borrow from the lyrics, 'everything stops for tea'.

As Kenny Knight rightly says in his poem 'Lessons in Teamaking', there was a time when, in the eyes of some, "the teapot was the centre / of the known universe". We hope that you will enjoy these poems as much as we have. No tea should be slurped – from cup or saucer, we aren't fussy – without them.

Poems by John Agard, John Arlott, Tiffany Atkinson, John Betjeman, Eavan Boland, Sheila Hackney, Thomas Hardy, Kenny Knight, Michael Longley and Jo Shapcott.

BATTLE ELEPHANTS AND FLAMING FOXES

ANIMALS IN THE ROMAN WORLD

Why did the emperor Augustus always have a seal skin nearby? What was the most dangerous part of a chariot race? How could a wolf help with toothache?

Take a gallop into the Roman world of chariot horses, battle elephants and rampaging rhinos. In the ancient world a bear could be weaponised and venomous snakes could change the course of a battle at sea. If you want to know exactly how to boil a crane (and who doesn't?) or how to use eels as a form of murder, the Romans have the answer. They wove animals into poetry, sacrificed them and slaughtered thousands in their arenas, while animal skins protected shields and ivory decorated the hilts of their swords.

From much-loved dogs to talking ravens, Battle Elephants and Flaming Foxes discovers who the Romans were through the fascinating relationship they had with the creatures that lived and died alongside them.

VAGABONDS

LIFE ON THE STREETS OF NINETEENTH-CENTURY LONDON

Critically acclaimed from a rising star British historian, this compelling, moving and unexpected portrait of London's poor brings the Dickensian city to real and vivid life.

Until now, our view of bustling late Georgian and Victorian London has been filtered through its great chroniclers, who did not themselves come from poverty – Dickens, Mayhew, Gustave Doré. Their visions were dazzling in their way, censorious, often theatrical. Now, for the first time, this innovative social history brilliantly – and radically – shows us the city's most compelling period (1780–1870) at street level.

From beggars and thieves to musicians and missionaries, porters and hawkers to sex workers and street criers, Jensen unites a breadth of original research and first-hand accounts and testimonies to tell their stories in their own words. What emerges is a buzzing, cosmopolitan world of the working classes, diverse in gender, ethnicity, origin, ability and occupation – a world that challenges and fascinates us still.

SUSAN MOSELEY

A two-year-old kidnapped while playing in the street, taken by a young ballad-singer desperate to sell her songs. Susan seems fated for a new life as this woman's sham daughter – but why would that help her kidnapper? And would Susan be any better off if she'd stayed safe inside?

JOHN JAMES BEZIER

Pounding the streets as an errand boy at the age of eight, John James is overworked and underfed. Caught between an ill mother and a drunken father, his is a story of spirited rebellion, taking on policemen and employers. The only thing that can hope to beat him is a tray of hot-cross buns.

JOSEPH JOHNSON

Londoners look at this disabled Black seaman and see a sensational street performer, singing songs of patriotism from beneath a miraculous model ship he wears upon his head. But Johnson has a second hat, and a second identity, that summon the spirits of both Nelson and West Africa to the streets of central London.

ROSE & MINNIE AVERY

Two mixed-race teens arrested for begging, the Avery sisters win the hearts of a local magistrate and the nation's press with their sensational tale of escaping slavery on a Kentucky plantation. For a while, things are looking up – until a suspicious

LAST VOYAGES

Looking back at the lives and sailing careers of some of our lifetime's finest yachtsmen, this collection of eleven original, moving accounts is just as much a celebration of the good – tales of hope, achievement and courageous spirit – as it is an account of their tragic final voyages.

Included are world-renowned racers, like Eric Tabarly and Rob James, highly experienced cruisers and adventurers, like Peter Tangvald and Bill Tilman, and the notoriously ill-prepared Donald Crowhurst, as well as other famous and some less well-known sailors. Starting with the sad loss of Frank Davison and Reliance in 1949, the book concludes with the amazing last voyage of Philip Walwyn in 2015 – crossing the Atlantic single-handed in his 12 Metre yacht Kate.

Peppered with photographs showcasing the sailors and their yachts, this is a refreshing look at those who have helped to shape this sport's history, honouring their lives and accomplishments before detailing their tragic last voyages.

Simon Richardson of Bill Tilman, En Avant (1977)

Chapter 4

The Last Voyage of Simon Richardson and Bill Tilman and the Loss of En Avant in the South Atlantic (1977)

The loss of an old converted Dutch steel tug in the South Atlantic in 1977 and the loss of six young men would have made few headlines in the UK press had it not been for the fact that also on board was the famous 89-year-old indomitable mountaineer, adventurer, explorer and ocean voyager, Major H W 'Bill' Tilman.

Bill Tilman on board En Avant

Little of this story and the reason why Tilman, at the age of 89, had shipped as crew on a vessel headed for Antarctica, owned and skippered by a young Englishman, Simon Richardson, would ever have been known had not Simon's mother, Dorothy, written an account of the crew and of her son's brief life entitled The Quest of Simon Richardson.

I first met Bill Tilman in 1961 when he answered an advertisement I had placed in Yachting Monthly seeking a sailing adventure during my gap year before University. He asked me if I wanted to join his British Channel Pilot Cutter Mischief as part of the crew for a proposed trip to Ruffin Island. I was intrigued and spent some time on board Mischief with the old man in Lynton and helped him with the fitting out of the boat for his trip. To my eternal regret I eventually turned down his offer. At that time Tilman was little known and to my youthful and ignorant eye I was somewhat appalled at the condition of Mischief and the state of some of her sailing gear. I could see straight through the spittle stains in places and there were many rotten areas in her planks and frames.

Another reason for my turning down his offer was that Tilman did not envisage returning to the UK until November and I was due to start at St. Andrew's University in Scotland that September. Had I had more gum I should have accepted Tilman's rather vague offer to join me ashore somewhere in Greenland in good time to get me back for the start of the university term. When I did get to St. Andrew's I was told that I could have met up, and had a lift back home, with a student expedition from the university which was spending the summer in the research hut which St. Andrew's maintained on the west coast of Greenland. Tilman and Mischief later that year did in fact meet up with them. Dr

Roger de Rham from France to Guadalupe. When nearing the finish, a large part of one of the floats broke off, the boat nearly capsized and Tabarly had to swim. Tabarly's brother, Patrick, who was sailing nearby on board Le Duc IT crossed the broken part of the float and towed it in to harbour.

In 1987 Tabarly and Patrick crossed Coeur d'Al for the La Route-Duhaler Two Handed Race. They captured 99 miles from Malizia but were quickly rescued.

In 1989, at the age of 56, Tabarly took part in the two handed 'Transat en Double' a two handed race from Lorient in France, round Bermuda and back to France without stopping. His boat was a new generation trimaran called Réa Entrevois and his crew was Jean Le Cam who later became a successful skipper himself. They had a good first overnight leg and were heading on the way home when they capsized, probably as a result of Tabarly pushing the boat too hard. They were travelling very fast with a large squallier set and Tabarly, who had been at the helm for a long time, was flailing. Jean Le Cam was below deck on the radio. As the boat reared up on one float and went over, Tabarly was thrown out about thirty feet above the sea and fractured his collar bone. He managed to swim back to the upturned hull and climb back on board. Inside, Le Cam got out via an escape hatch in the stern. For some six hours they sat on the upturned hull until a cargo ship arrived and picked them up.

Tabarly admitted afterwards that this was the only time he had really been frightened at sea as it all happened so quickly and was something over which he had no control. He raced little after that and in his early sixties decided to retire.

Up until that time Tabarly had had no real family life. He lived for his sailing, devoting himself full time to his boats and racing. However, in 1976 he met a girl, Jacqueline, on a friend's boat. For eight years they continued to see each other and finally got married in Brittany in 1984. They brought a house there, an old barn overlooking a cove. This was the first house Tabarly had ever owned. Later they had a daughter, Marie.

TRAINING TO WIN

Gold medal winning coach, Jon Emmett works with sailors and coaches around the world and is frequently asked things like: 'What is a good exercise to improve this?' 'Why do we do this exercise?' 'How do we make the exercise more / less difficult?' This book is the answer to those frequently asked questions.

It contains training exercises for each element of a sailing race. As well as describing and illustrating the exercise, it tells you what skills you are trying to improve, why and how to make the exercise harder or easier.

The book will enable coaches to deliver better, more focused, training sessions, but it will also help sailors who don't have the benefit of a coach to practise and improve their sailing skills. The exercises are marked as to whether they are suitable for solo boats, groups of boats or those with a coach boat.

KURSK 1943

VOICES FROM THE BATTLEFIELD

Putting human faces and voices to the Battle of Kursk (Operation Zitadelle).

In 1943, as war raged along the Eastern Front, the German forces attempted to push further east in the brutal Operation Citadel, which saw one of the largest armoured clashes in history in the Battle of Prokhorovka. Countered by two Soviet attacks, this operation saw the tide turn on the Eastern Front. For the first time a German offensive was halted in its tracks and the Soviets ended the conflict as the decisive victors. With a loss of over 200,000 men on both sides, this two-month offensive was one of the costliest of the war.

In this dramatic new study, Anthony Tucker-Jones reassesses this decisive tank battle through the eyes of those who fought, using recently translated first-person accounts.

This is one volume that no military history enthusiast should be without.

INTERPRETATION OF DREAMS

An essential guide to understanding the hidden meanings of your dreams.

The word "sleep" covers both the act of sleeping and the activity of the mind during that period of rest.

To dream is part of the act of sleeping. The interpretation of dreams is the art of applying meaning to the various elements that appear in dreams. This is an ancient human practice, for which there are written records more than 3,800 years old.

This beautiful book is an illustrated A-Z glossary of 1,500 precognitive dream elements - words, images and situations - and what they mean.

An introduction also explains sleep and dreaming, and the symbolism of dreams. There is even a dreams questionnaire to help you understand yourself.

Delve deep into the meanings and messages of your dreams with this insightful guide.

INTUITION

IT HOLDS THE ANSWERS YOU SEEK

If you are interested in increasing the strength and connection with your intuition then this stunning book is for you!

Intuition is our ability to access knowledge from within us, without help from the outside world. This book provides a beautiful reminder for you to practise using your intuition. It is full of ideas for you to explore further. If something resonates with you, try to examine why. It is like an oracle card deck but in book form.

It is here to assist you to find the answers that you seek, a reminder to go deeper within yourself. It is a tool to help you uncover more about who you are and what you are here for. To understand your purpose or find more meaning, listen to the whispers from your soul and look for the clues that the universe scatters before you.

This book will hopefully help you to connect more with your source, your God, your spirituality and who you truly are. I recommend you use the book to reveal the deeper, truer you, and to connect at a soul level with all the knowledge of the universe that is held within you.

EVIL IMAGINATION

UNDERSTANDING AND RESISTING DESTRUCTIVE FORCES

Roger Kennedy has written a masterful investigation into the concept of evil. He begins with a general view of the subject before moving into more detailed analysis. First is a review of the science of evil, including evidence from neuroscience and social psychology. This is followed by psychoanalytical studies of the individual and groups before presenting an overview of the philosophy of evil. Also included are historical and social studies which inform an understanding of evil in action. Kennedy goes on to examine the nature of genocide using a main focus on the Holocaust and of slavery. Both of these "journeys to evil" remain relevant for understanding contemporary society and issues. The Nazi past continues to disturb and resonate decades on. The politics and social fabric of Western society was reliant on slavery as a foundation of economic wealth and is haunted by its inability to process the harsh reality of slavery and its continuing after-effects. The book concludes with a summary of the main themes and a look at those who have resisted evil and what we can learn from them if we are to build a society that can resist the forces of evil.

PUNTA DEL ESTE

The world class South American beach resort of Punta del Este extends elegantly into the glistening waters off the coast of Uruguay. The golden sands, natural seaside homes, and world class cuisine attracts elite visitors, transforming the destination into the jet set's playground. Often compared to the Hamptons, St. Tropez and Monaco, Punta del Este stands out for its unique landscape, combining the best of the city, the countryside, and the beach.

In Punta del Este, readers uncover the various, can't-miss towns dotting the region, each with their own distinct offerings: Las Piedras for the luxurious Fasano Hotel, Manantiales for unmatched surfing, Garzón to experience the otherworldly cuisine of Francis Mallmann, and La Barra for some much-needed beachside relaxation. The mystique of Punta del Este will never cease to mesmerise.

KNIT LIKE A LATVIAN

Knit yourself stunning Latvian accessories including gloves, hats, scarves and shawls with this collection of colourwork knitting patterns and charts from the author of Knit Like a Latvian: Mittens and Knit Like a Latvian: Socks.

This is the third title in our Knit Like a Latvian series which looks at knitting patterns using traditional Latvian colourwork designs. This title features 40 patterns for gloves, hats, wraps and scarves all featuring a distinctive Latvian colour work design element.

Author Ieva Ozolina has designed a range of accessories featuring traditional Latvian motifs and design elements such as Latvian braids to create this beautiful collection. Knit Like a Latvian Accessories also looks at the stories behind the design motifs which are steeped in folk tradition - for example, if you include the sun motif design in your knitting it is thought that the item will offer extra warmth to the wearer - so you can understand the traditions behind the knitting.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES

Anne Shirley is an eleven-year-old orphan who has hung on determinedly to an optimistic spirit and a wildly creative imagination through her early deprivations. She erupts into the lives of aging brother and sister Matthew and Marilla Cuthbert, a girl instead of the boy they had sent for. Thus begins a story of transformation for all three; indeed the whole rural community of Avonlea comes under Anne's influence in some way. We see her grow from a girl to a young woman of sixteen, making her mistakes, and not always learning from them. Intelligent, hot-headed as her own red hair, unwilling to take a moral truth as read until she works it out for herself, she must also face grief and loss and learn the true meaning of love. Part Tom Sawyer, part Jane Eyre, by the end of Anne of Green Gables, Anne has become the heroine of her own story.
